DETAILED ACTION

Receipt is acknowledged of the response and showing of common ownership filed 07/02/2008.

The rejection under 35 USC 103(a) is withdrawn in view of the showing of common ownership. This rejection however, is replaced by a rejection under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting.

Double Patenting

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. A nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting rejection is appropriate where the conflicting claims are not identical, but at least one examined application claim is not patentably distinct from the reference claim(s) because the examined application claim is either anticipated by, or would have been obvious over, the reference claim(s). See, e.g., In re Berg, 140 F.3d 1428, 46 USPQ2d 1226 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) or 1.321(d) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent either is shown to be commonly owned with this application, or claims an invention made as a result of activities undertaken within the scope of a joint research agreement.

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claims 1, 2, and 5-10 are provisionally rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-4 of copending Application No. 10/883,228 (Borges et al). Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because Borges et al claims the coating of an implantable medical device with a composition comprising a basecoat and a topcoat, wherein the basecoat includes at least one active agent that is incorporated into a first polymeric material, the basecoat is affixed to the surface of the medical device, and the topcoat contains a second polymeric material which is affixed to the basecoat for the purpose of controlling the elution rate of the at least one active agent. Borges et al claims a particular embodiment wherein the basecoat comprises a fluoropolymer and rapamycin and the topcoat comprises an acrylic polymer (claims 1 and 4). Borges further teaches the particular medical devices, stents, anastomosis devices and stent-grafts (claim 4). Additionally, Borges discusses drug combination therapy for the treatment of restenosis and lists possible drugs that may be employed in the invention including rapamycin, (claim 4) and would include cladribine and etoposide in a possible combination. Thus it would have been well within the skill of the ordinary practitioner to claim the instant medical device given the disclosure of Borges et al, and further with a reasonable expectation of similar therapeutic results. As such, the instant claims would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of invention given the disclosure of Borges et al.

This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection because the conflicting claims have not in fact been patented.
